Synopsis

Published to wide critical acclaim in France, Badawi is Mohed Altradâ™s heartrending debut novel, inspired by the authorâ™s own narrative arc from Bedouin orphan to engineer and finally billionaire businessman. In the Syrian desert, a young boy watches as his mother dies. She was a repudiated woman, abandoned by the boyâ™s powerful father, leaving MaÃouf to his scornful grandmother. Though the Bedouin tribes have stopped their centuries-long travels across the dunesâ”their tents long since converted into sedentary shacksâ”MaÃoufâ™s grandmother wants him to carry on tradition as a shepherd. But from the first time he sneaks off to the white-walled schoolhouse to watch the other children learn, MaÃouf envisions a different future for himself. This is one extraordinary childâ™s story of fighting for an education, and a life, he was never supposed to have, from a tiny desert village to the city of Raqqa, from the university halls of Montpellier on to the oil fields of Abu Dhabi. But is a life of exile the one he wants? Can a child whose name means ‘the abandoned one’ ever make a home for himself? With each step forward, he feels the love of his youthâ”a steadfast young Syrian woman named Fadiaâ”and the shifting, haunted sands of his native village pulling him back toward the past he thought he had left behind.
