Every Yesterday (Boot Creek)

Synopsis

Megan Howard used to be a successful painterâbut that was a long time ago. These days sheâs struggling to move forward, convinced her heart is permanently broken after her last relationship and grief stricken over the loss of her father. Clinging to memories of happier times, she holds tight to her fatherâs most cherished possession: a 1958 DeSoto Adventurer. Though she needs the money, sheâll never sell itâeven loaning the prized automobile to her best friend on the day of her wedding stirs up painful memories. Avowed bachelor and car collector Noah Black has never seen a car he can live withoutâor a woman he can live with. Reluctant to see his best friend condemned to matrimony, he flies to Boot Creek from California to be the best man in the wedding. But after discovering that the gorgeous maid of honor owns the car of his dreams, Noah makes a pricey bet that heâll add the DeSoto to his collection, no matter what it takes. Despite their determination to stay single, Noah and Megan soon find they canât resist each other. His attention turns from getting the car to getting the girl, and thanks to Noah, Megan can imagine a life in the present. But when the truth about Noahâs wager comes to light, will it threaten to throw Meganâs new perspective into reverse?

A small town contemporary romance. Full of friends, instant attraction, and falling in love. Megan Howard and Noah Black click when they first meet. They have lots in common including the love of the car she inherited from her father. That car is Noah's goal. Every Yesterday in the title refers to Megan's holding on to past memories instead of living for today. Noah helps her learn to leave her yesterday's behind. A bit poignant with a happy ending. I received a copy of this book from NetGalley.

Being a contemporary romance fan I've seen Nancy Naigle's books around, but hadn't had the chance to read one before Every Yesterday. I'm really happy I got the chance to read it. It was a classic, well written contemporary romance novel. The small town North Carolina setting was inviting and cute. I enjoyed the dual points of view and the unique conflict between the characters. The thing that prevented me from giving Every Yesterday 5 stars was the actual characters. They weren't horrible, but I just didn't connect with them. Megan's anti-love stance was a little off-putting. It's not that I didn't like that she was anti-love, it was just the way she came across. I can't even explain it. I think maybe it would have helped knowing the reasoning behind her stance earlier on in the novel. Maybe then her words and actions would have been easier to identify with. I had a bigger problem with Noah. His whole approach to the car thing made him seem super sleazy. Those moments were so repulsive that I had a hard time enjoying the good parts of his personality. I just couldn't get past it. I think I would have loved the way Noah and Megan connected otherwise. They had some really special moments that could have been amazing had I loved the people involved. Overall, Every Yesterday was a cute contemporary read. I just wished I would have fallen in love with the characters as much as I fell in love with the setting and the plot.

In this one Nancy Naigle takes us back to Boot Creek, NC (finally)!! I fell in love with this little fictional town in Life After Perfect and have been patiently waited for the next installment in the series. This can easily be read standalone though so don't let it stop you if you haven't read the first one yet. This a wonderful sweet story of how two very different people can bond over something as crazy as a car. Megan Howard loved her father and the one thing he left her when he died was his 1958 DeSoto Adventurer. She may need money in the worst way but selling her Daddy's car isn't on the table. Car enthusiast and confirmed bachelor Noah Black is in Boot Creek for his buddy's wedding when he spots the car. He's determined to have it and the gorgeous maid of honor that owns it!! A fun sweet read you don't want to miss. I highly recommend it.

I loved this book! I love Boot Creek, the wonderful friendly town. It makes everyone want to move to this fictional town. The author gives you such an insight into the characters that at the end I was actually crying..tears of happiness! Can't wait to read more from Boot Creek or Adams Grove! Fantastic book!

This is only the second book by Ms Naigle that I have read, but it certainly won't be the last one. It touched me very much, because like the main character , Megan, I grew up with a Dad that loved cars and even though I lost him when I was 15, his love of cars, grew in me as well. Most reviewers will tell you it's a story about Megan, her attachment to her deceased father's car, and Noah, a successful car restoration business man that wants to purchase the Desoto Adventurer. But it's a story about much more than that. It's how we hold on to our yesterdays, sometimes to the point of us forgetting that the todays are here for us to live. Those yesterdays, whether good or bad, are what make us the individuals we are today. Thus , we need to be present in our lives so we don't miss the wonders that it has in store for us. I received this copy from Netgalley for an honest review. The opinions are solely mine.
