A Cowboy Christmas Miracle (Burnt Boot, Texas Book 4)

Synopsis

It will take a miracle bigger than the state of Texas for these two feuding families to survive the holidays! Opposites might attract... The Brennans and the Gallaghers put aside their one-hundred-year feud every Tuesday for their weekly poker game. This week, the stakes are sky-high. Goaded to recklessness, Declan Brennan bets one thousand dollars that he can woo the next woman to walk into the saloon. A minute later, fiery-haired Betsy Gallagher pushes through the doors. If Declan can tame this wild Gallagher, he'll have earned every penny. If they don't kill each other first... Betsy can outshoot anybody in Burnt Boot and loves ranching more than anything- until she falls for Declan. He's fallen for her too. But when she discovers what sparked their courtship, Declan will need a Christmas miracle to save his hide- and his heart. Customer Reviews

This has been a riot of a fun series from start to finish with sassy cowgirls, flirty cowboys, and a family feud that was over the top hijinks. It was fitting that the last book was told against a holiday that calls for 'peace on earth; goodwill toward men' because maybe- just maybe the Gallaghers and the Brennans can find a way to call an end to their feud. Betsy Gallagher and Declan Brennan sure hope so because they do not want to be the Burnt Boot version of the doomed Juliet and Romeo. As the fourth and final book in the series, this is not the best one to read out of order. Both characters and the situation were introduced earlier in the series. The story opens with Declan participating in the weekly poker game with his cousin and two of the enemy Gallaghers. Things get heated as they generally do between the two rival families and Declan ends up losing a bet. He has to make the first woman through the doors of the bar fall for him in thirty days or lose. And in struts his secret childhood crush, Betsy Gallagher. Declan isn't the only man at the table to groan in frustration. Her own cousins know what will happen if Betsy finds out she was the object of their bet, but pride kicks in and the bet goes forward. Declan is more frustrated than ever over the stupid feud that won't allow him to straight up ask out Betsy or have a chance of a future with her, but now, he doesn't know what to make of this situation caused by the bet. Betsy is frustrated. Because of the stupid feud, her grandmother and the Brennan's matriarch have both refused the usual funds to have the church Christmas programs and Nativity Play. Betsy's cousin is even more sad because it was to be her baby that would be the baby Jesus.

My Thoughts
Let me first say boo-hoo to the end of Burnt Boot series but yeah for the way in which it was given a very heartwarming send off!

They melted the baby Jesus and dun stole Santa! Lordy but Burnt Boot, Texas is one lively town full of quirky down right crazy people. A Cowboy Christmas Miracle was a hoot as the #LoveWar threatens to take both sides of the feuding town down for good. The quick of it is that Declan and Betsy, well, they've each secretly had a thing for each other but they're on opposite sides of a 100 year old family feud so even lookin' nicely in each others direction is completely off the table. Starting up a romance? Not. Likely. Until a bunch of fool boys playing poker come up with a bet that Declan can't seduce Betsy. It's just the chance he's been looking for to get close to her so he's all in. Even if he knows he'll be in for a smack down once she finds out. Ahhhh these two! Declan and Betsy were wonderful and perfectly matched. They're both, well, a bit slutty but totally embrace it and are like pffft I'll do what I want, they're both sick of the feud, they're both taking a stand and trying to do something good for the town. They've got sass and fire and there's just a fun element that jumps between them as they start getting pushed together on different things. Sneaking around and trying to figure out how to get over their last names and everything that means because of the feud. Now the bet. I'm not a huge fan of the whole betting thing but it worked here for me since you know right from the start that Declan's totally smitten for Betsy and struggling with keeping the secret. The town was crazy as ever and the old women steering the feud totally batshit crazy. Honest to goodness I would totally bundle those nutters up and drop them in the middle of the wilderness somewhere. Those old grandmom's needed someone to take them both down. Whew boy!
